

Robin Goldberg – Bio

I'm Robin Goldberg, and I'm a Boston-based playwright and dramaturg. I'm a recent graduate of Emerson College (B.A. Theatre Studies: Playwriting and Dramaturgy, '15), where I received the 2015 Rod Parker Playwriting Award. My play On My Honor received a full production as part of the 2014-2015 Emerson Stage season. My plays Sam Loves Alex and Tall received staged readings through Emerson Stage in 2012 and 2013, respectively.

I'm largely a comedy writer, and I'm interested in working on both plays and musicals. I also have experience working on new play development, and assisting Literary departments for regional theatre companies and foundations.
